Texas Charter Schools Association Announces WebSmart by JR3 as Preferred Vendor for Student and Financial Data Management

May 19, 2010 -Austin, Texas – The Board and members of the Texas Charter Schools Association (TCSA) officially selected WebSmart by JR3 as its preferred vendor for Student and Financial Data Management.

Executive Director David Dunn said, “After rigorous competition and extensive evaluation, our membership decided that WebSmart was the long-term software solution to help our schools accurately report data to the Texas Education Agency. We want to help ensure charter schools are continually improving their operations across the state. The WebSmart product is easy to use, offers scalability, and practical flexibility for the future.”

The partnership with WebSmart, a Texas-based company comprised of Texas school professionals, will have a true and meaningful impact in the Charter school community. Robert Clemons, Managing Partner of WebSmart, said, “It’s important to note that we consider the TCSA endorsement as a reciprocal relationship. Only through cooperation and communication can we truly tailor our product to the charter school market and make it one of customization. We are confident TCSA leadership will create an environment for us to solve complex issues in a straightforward way”.

The Texas Charter Schools Association (TCSA) is the leading membership organization of effective charter schools of all types, representing more than 78,000 students in 390 charter schools across Texas.
